CREATIVES OF THE FUTURE – New International Contest

Ca' Foscari Short Film Festival, in collaboration with Luca Finotti, launches the call for a new international contest called CREATIVES OF THE FUTURE. The purpose of this contest is to detect the finest concepts of given brands to see if they are capable of communicating a product over a 360°-style of communication. The contest is open to universities and students from cinema-schools from all over the world. They are asked to submit any work that can translate brand-creativity into a worldwide style of communication, without any restrictions on expressive styles. The contest, starting with the 9th edition of the festival, provides for a comprehensive path which will be developed during the whole year resulting in artworks that will be shown during the 2020's Short.

VIDEO-OKE!

Ca' Foscari Short Film Festival is happy to present for the fifth consecutive year VIDEO-OKE!, a game that has had great and greater success over the past editions. VIDEO-OKE! (video + karaoke = videoke) combines the well-known format of karaoke to the world of cinema, creating a playful situation in which the recorded acting of the actors of a film is replaced by the live performance of the player. During this program, the Short Film Festival cooperates with high schools in the province of Venice to create a playful relationship with the audio-visual media, offering students a fun way to get closer to film and at the same time to present an innovative way of fruition.
